

Delhi govt gets Janagraha award

NEW DELHI: The Delhi government has received the Janagraha V Ramachandran award for 'urban decentralisation' for their school management committees. The government held elections to appoint SMC members in 2015 September.

Deputy chief minister Manish Sisodia tweeted: "This award goes to Teachers, Principals & each selfless member of #SMCDelhi who works tirelessly for a truly educated Delhi #SMCAwarded.,"

In a series of tweets, Sisodia said the SMCs have played the biggest role in implementation of education reforms in Delhi.

"Our School Mgmt Committee is the most vibrant example of community participation to build a better future in Education...", he tweeted. HTC
