In February and March 2015, 63 eighth standard students from schools around Bangalore explored the neighbourhoods near their schools with cameras in their hands. They walked far and wide, past parks and through narrow streets to take pictures of things affecting their quality of life. They clicked pictures of footpaths, animals, trees, piles of garbage, traffic and all sorts of other things that affect their daily life. Then, they sat down with researchers from the Janaagraha Centre for Citizenship and Democracy to talk about what they liked and didn’t like about Bangalore. This picture book showcases some of their pictures and discusses the good and bad things that shape their quality of life.
“The parks are a clean, good place for children to play.”

Hajira, Bright High School

“Dust bins are a positive aspect in parks as it helps in keeping the park and its surroundings clean.”

Yashas, Little Flower Public School

“My favorite place in my city is Lal Bagh because there are lots of green trees which give happiness to my mind.”

One of the things that the children liked most about Bangalore was the parks throughout the city. Some mentioned that they enjoyed iconic green spaces in Bangalore, such as Lal Bagh and Cubbon Park, but they also said that there weren’t enough parks. Many worried about green spaces that had been destroyed or dirtied with garbage, and said that there was a need for more parks.

“Garbage is not cleared from the parks, so people are facing problems.”

Kiran J, GBHS Malleshwaram 18th Cross
“In our Bangalore, many people are dying of electric shock because people stand near electrical poles and build their houses there. People are dying by touching the wires, which are hanging very low.”

Praveen K, Udaya High School

“If somebody touches the power box, they will be in big trouble or die.”

Shashank S, GBHS Malleshwaram 18th Cross
“When children are playing games and the shuttle cock falls in the wires, they will get hurt if they try to pick it up out of the wires.”

Komala P, Udaya High School

“The government should introduce long-term plans to improve things like unmaintained electricity, wires, dangerous things.”

Harshith, Auden Public School

One of the main challenges identified by the students was electrical hazards. They worry that loose electrical wires and open transformers in parks where they play, as well as on the roads, may harm them or other children. Some are also concerned about power shortages and how they affect families and the economy.
“Plastic does not decompose. It spoils the soil and, after many days, plants stop growing because of the plastics.”

Abishek, Jaigopal Garodia Rashtrothana

“Garbage bins must be placed in each and every area. People must be responsible and educated enough to put the waste products in the bin.”

Priya, Holy Child English School

“The garbage of our house should be handed over to the vehicle which comes in the morning. If we throw waste wherever we want, we get diseases. So we should inform corporation members to remove garbage.”

Sanjay BS, Udaya Kannada High School

“Burning garbage consumes oxygen and increases pollution. People shouldn’t burn garbage.”

Ahmed Pasha, HSIS Government Urdu Model Primary and High School Urdu Model Primary School
Every single child who participated in the project is concerned about the garbage in Bangalore. They worry about the impact it has on the health of children and Bangaloreans in general, as well as how it is damaging the environment. While many said the government needs to do a better job at dealing with garbage, they also said that people must take responsibility and clean up after themselves.

“Burning garbage consumes oxygen and increases pollution. People shouldn't burn garbage.”

Ahmed Pasha, HSIS Government Urdu Model Primary and High School

“Due to this garbage, our Bangalore has got a bad name as the ‘Garbage City’ which was earlier known as the ‘Garden City.’”

Sharanya, Auden Public School

“Waste should be separated like wet and dry waste.”

Vinod, GBHS Malleshwaram 18th Cross
“One could see huge piles of waste in cities like Bengaluru. If such garbage is dumped in roads, poisonous insects may fly to the nearby houses and cause trouble. So waste should be separated as wet and dry waste. Garbage should not be thrown wherever we want. It will be a cause for ill health.”

Saman, Udaya High School

“In the city, there is too much garbage. It’s not good for children.”

Supritha, Little Angels Public School
“There are garbage bins located across the street, but people dump their garbage at a vacant area in the corner. In the morning, even cows come there to eat. There are even plastic covers in the heap. The cows also come to mid-road and disturb vehicles and people who pass by.”

Sanjeeva, Holy Child English School

“If we throw garbage outside near the house, parents and children will have to face the problem of mosquitoes. So we should not throw garbage.”

Malesha, GBHS Malleshwaram 18th Cross
“People are very careless and not performing their duties as residents of the street. They just fill the water and leave the tap as it is. The tap leaks and the water flows in front of their homes, which spoils the cleanliness and impression of the street.”

Athiya, Citizens High School

“We should reduce using vehicles for short distances and we should use cycles or we should walk. Because of that, we can be healthy.”

Hemanth M, Jaigopal Garodia Rashtrothana

“This was the main thing I wanted to speak about. You can see the police wearing a mask. It clearly talks about the pollution. The area is polluted so much that people wear masks to avoid them.”

Sandhya, Little Flower Public School
The children enjoyed the greenery in Bangalore. Many said the government and locals should grow more plants, trees and flowers. The children also worried about the impact that piles of garbage and pollution from cars, is having on nature, the health of Bangaloreans and animals. Many worried about wastage of environmental resources, such as water.
“Every house should plant a tree because plants and trees give us fresh air.”

Alan, Bright High School

“We should grow a lot of plants and we should not cut trees because it is not good for us.”

Rakshitha, Little Angels Public School
“Plants are good for our health and it is nice to plant the trees in front of our homes.”

Surabhi, Little Angel Public School

“Smoking not good for the smoker’s health and for the society’s health.”

Mohammed Yousif, HSIS Government Urdu Model Primary and High School Urdu Model School
“In this picture, you can see a lady who is collecting water from the water tank. Near the tank, there are fungi and bacteria. She is collecting the water for drinking purpose. What will happen to her when she drinks this water and falls sick? I talked to her and she said that there are no taps in her house and she doesn’t have enough money to build taps. My suggestion is that the government should build the taps.”

Naziya, Bright High School

“This picture shows a man who is standing on an uneven platform which is high up. If he loses his balance, there are great chances of fatal injuries. This picture shows the unsafe conditions that people are asked to work in and to what extent people go to feed their family.”

Vibha, Little Flower Public School
While walking around their schools, the students saw, met and interacted with many people, including street vendors, shopkeepers, police officers and auto drivers. The students are concerned about social problems, such as poverty and children like themselves who sell things on the street instead of going to school.

Harsh, Jaigopal Garodia Rashtrotthana Vidyalaya

“Old people should be helped to cross roads because they will not have the strength to cross the road. If they try to cross road, the vehicles will hit them. So helping the old people to cross the road is good work. If you help the old people to cross the road, in future your parents will also get others’ help.”

Chethan, Udaya High School

“We should not do any social discrimination in the society.”

Jagruti, Holy Child English School

“People are using the footpaths like toilets.”

Shabaz Qureshi, HSIS Government Urdu Model Primary and High School
Another major concern for children is the condition of roads and footpaths in the city. They noticed potholes, uneven roads and other things that could cause car crashes. They also said that broken footpaths, open drainage and other things make it hard for people to walk around and could injure pedestrians.

“People love to walk on clean and beautiful streets.”

Shahid, Citizens High School

“Our Bangalore has too many vehicles. Because of this, the environment is damaged and people are also facing problems. Pedestrians are facing problems to walk and people are dying of vehicle smoke.
